

Security Clearances

Essco has been approached by a number of customers to have Essco employees undergo security clearance processes. Essco cannot be expected to meet the security clearance requirements of every customer – we presently do business with 2000 companies each year. Also, clearances are limited by the following:

- ✓ Each clearance must be sponsored by a specific customer's business
- ✓ Each clearance is paid for by the requesting company
- ✓ Clearances are processed by various government and non-government agencies
- ✓ Each clearance classification has a different set of requirements and background checks
- ✓ Clearances are not readily transferable or accepted from one business to another
- ✓ Security clearances are not a right- they are a privilege and thus are not guaranteed to be granted.

It is usually more practical and economical to provide an escort for Essco employees while in customer facilities. Essco always requires a constant contact person when at a customer site to assist by locating and supplying the instruments to the Essco technician. This helps Essco maintain a low profile, minimizes disruptions in your facility and speeds up the overall process. This person is responsible for giving permission to disconnect, or for disconnecting leads from systems, or disconnecting and delivering the equipment to the Essco technicians for calibration. In most cases, this is more practical than going through a time consuming and costly security clearance process.
